SUBJECT: Review of Consultant Requirements for Fiscal Year 1969

3. It is recognized that authorization now exists to increase the compensation of consultants above $50 per day or consultation, with your approval. The revised consultant regulation has been approved and is now being published. The regulation emphasizes that all present and future consultants should not be paid routinely at the new maximum rate. Requests to increase compensation are to be based on the type and length of service to be performed as well as the qualifications of each individual concerned. We will forward all such requests to you for approval as received.

4. It is recommended that you approve the continuation or termination of these consultants, as requested on the attached Forms 503, by signing below. Rates of compensation for approved consultants will continue at no more than $50 per day or per consultation until a higher rate has been requested by the using component and approved by you. The use of consultants approved for continuation is contingent upon an updated conflict of interest clearance by the General Counsel. Security approvals were previously granted.
